

2. Back to School Bash: Link to Blog

Every kid deserves to walk into the first day of school feeling ready.

But for a lot of families, back-to-school season adds up fast - especially with more than one kid at home.

So on August 1st, families started lining up two hours before the doors opened.

And what waited inside was so much more than a supply drive.

537 backpacks, filled and handed to students from Pre-K through 12th grade.

New shoes, diapers, hot food, carnival games, and a bounce house.

Bikes and skateboards raffled off to a few lucky kids.

112 teachers stocked up for their own classrooms, too.

And for families who couldn't make it, backpacks and supplies were delivered right to their door.

That's what A Greater Hope's Back to School Bash is all about.

More than backpacks.

One less thing for a family to worry about - and one more kid ready to start the year strong.